Traditional design...modern benefits

The REHAU S719 Heritage Vertical Sliding Window system is designed to incorporate all the desirable, traditional features of an authentic sash window but with all the additional benefits and conveniences of modern PVC-U.

Preserving our heritage

We know the appearance of your home is very important to you. When considering replacement windows, you need to be sure that they will look just right and complement the style of your home. This is particularly important if you live in either a period house or a conservation area.

REHAU Heritage Style Windows have already been approved and installed successfully in conservation areas across the UK and the Republic of Ireland.

They are designed with all the traditional detailing found in period windows, such as a deep bottom rail, slim sashes and an optional Georgian bar. Classic style brass catches and optional decorative horns replicate the traditional timber aesthetics to complete the effect.

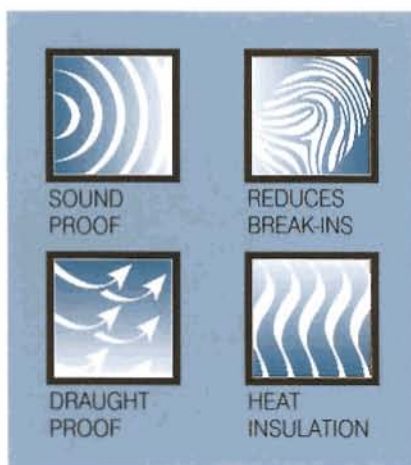

Heritage Style Vertical Sliding Sash Windows are available in a variety of sizes, which means that our windows are suitable for any style of home and shape of window. The slim sash is designed specifically to replicate the more elegant sightlines of traditional wooden windows.

When you choose sash windows that are designed and fabricated from REHAU profiles, quality assurance is guaranteed. Our windows are well-balanced, so they won't stick, jam or slip. And cleaning them couldn't be easier. The built-in tilt feature means that you can clean both sides of the window from inside the house.

Authenticity without compromise

A traditional look doesn't have to mean traditional security, far from it. REHAU Heritage Style Windows boast the very latest key locks, making your home even more secure.

Give your home the new lease of life that modern PVC-U technology brings to the replacement window industry, without sacrificing either style or efficiency. You will notice that draughts are virtually eliminated, reducing your heating bills significantly and helping to conserve energy. The low maintenance of our windows means that you won't have to spend time painting them and, combined with the improved noise reduction levels, you will be able to relax in peace and quiet.

Our craftsmanship ensures the precise fitting of Vertical Sliding Windows with all the nostalgia of a bygone age.

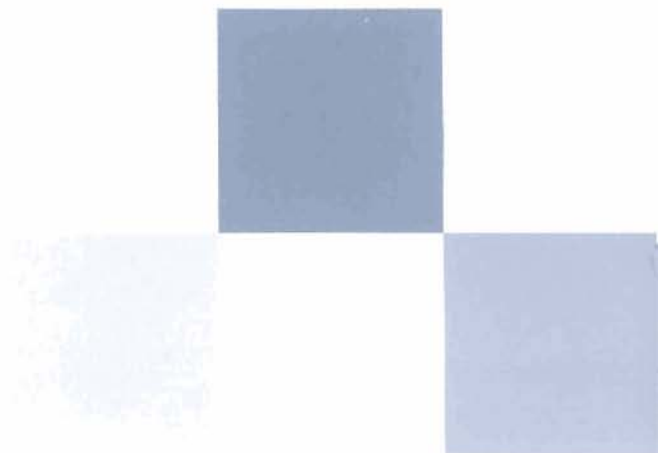

Established in 1948, the REHAU name is synonymous with design innovation and quality of manufacturing. This makes the REHAU Heritage Style Vertical Sliding Windows the most distinctive and authentic-looking PVC-U sash window system available on the UK market.

All REHAU products are designed, built and tested to strict REHAU and industry guidelines.
